Another General Faces Hearings On Army Scandal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army has abruptly recalled a general from Europe to the Pentagon for what may be further sensational testimony in a Senate investigation of military graft.

The Army said Brig. Gen. Earl F. Cole was being reassigned indefinitely to Washington "in connection with the current Senate hearings on alleged irregularities" in noncommissioned officers' club operations.

The Army didn't go further officially, but Pentagon sources said Cole's name has figured in military reports on the irregularities which have been turned over to a subcommittee headed by Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn.

Committee sources said Cole, who turned 50 today and is a native of Madison County, Neb., is expected to be questioned although he has not yet been subpoenaed.

Ribicoff's panel is scheduled to resume hearings Wednesday. The sessions recently produced testimony that a group of sergeants profited at the expense of NCO clubs and that Maj. Gen. Carl C. Turner, former provost marshal general,

Gulf States Eye Progress Of Hurricane

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Gale force winds from 100-mile-an-hour Hurricane Laurie began whipping Louisiana's offshore waters near the mouth of the Mississippi River today.

The powerful storm lost forward speed during the morning as it moved sluggishly through the Gulf of Mexico. The New Orleans Weather Bureau said Laurie would have a slow and erratic movement today but that a drift toward the northeast was indicated.

At 7 a.m. the hurricane center was located about 230 miles south of New Orleans after drifting eastward at 5 mph for a few hours.

Thousands of residents along Louisiana's vulnerable low coast fled inland for fear of being trapped in a danger zone.

If Laurie, the eighth hurricane of the season, curved more to the northeast, she could move onto Mississippi's coast, devastated by Hurricane Camille two months ago, or even farther east to Alabama or Florida.

A hurricane watch was in force from Galveston, Tex., to Apalachicola, Fla.—some 600 miles.

Due to her shift to the east, the Weather Bureau said the threat to the Texas and west Louisiana coast had lessened—but that the hurricane watch should remain.

The hurricane sent howling gales whipping the sea for 160 miles to the north and east of its center.

The most extensive exodus Monday was from Lafourche Parish (county), to the west of New Orleans, where civil defense asked some 25,000 residents to move to refuge centers at Lockport, Riceland and Thibodaux.

2 Sharp Battles Flare Up Along Border Near Saigon

DRIVER KILLED — Barton C. Cook, 52, Chillicothe, was killed when his car (right) crashed head-on with a Highway Patrol car driven by Samuel Hamblin, of the local OSP post. Hamblin was admitted to University Hospital, Columbus, where he is in "fair" condition today. Cook, the father of Cincinnati Bengals quarterback Greg Cook, was southbound in the northbound lane of Route 23. The two cars collided at the top of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad overpass.

7 Americans Killed, 18 Hurt In Firefights

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese troops killed seven Americans, wounded 18 others and damaged two helicopters in two sharp fights Monday near the Cambodian border north of Saigon. The U.S. Command said 16 of the enemy were killed.

Further south along the border, other American air cavalrymen exchanged machine-gun and rifle fire for nearly three hours with North Vietnamese troops 58 miles northwest of Saigon. Two helicopters supporting the ground troops were hit by machine-gun fire which wounded three crewmen, but the helicopters made it back to their bases.

U.S. spokesmen said two Americans were killed and two were wounded on the ground, and two enemy bodies were found on the battlefield.

One North Vietnamese force apparently took about 150 troops of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division by surprise as they waited in a landing zone 85 miles northeast of Saigon for helicopters to pick them up after a reconnaissance patrol.

The North Vietnamese opened up with a 25-round mortar barrage and machine-gun and rifle fire, killing five Americans and wounding 13 before the company could take cover.

American artillery, helicopter gunships and dive-bombers raked the enemy positions, and 14 North Vietnamese soldiers were reported killed in the 30-minute counterattack.

As the lull in the war continued in its seventh week, South Vietnamese headquarters reported a slight increase in enemy terror attacks. It said the Viet Cong attacked three hamlets along the central coast and shelled two district towns in the Mekong Delta, killing three civilians, wounding 18 and kidnapping one.

Medic Says Autopsy Would Be Helpful In Kopechne Case

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP) — A Philadelphia medical examiner says an autopsy on the body of Mary Jo Kopechne "would tend to confirm, tend to modify, or could negate" the drowning verdict issued by a medical examiner in Massachusetts.

Dr. Joseph W. Spelman said he had performed several thousand autopsies and that an external examination alone, such as was performed on Miss Kopechne, "even if carefully and thoroughly done, frequently failed to reveal internal injuries."

Spelman was a key witness Monday in Common Pleas Court

Chrysler Faces Bad Profit Slump

DETROIT (AP) — An 87 per cent slump in profits for the third quarter of this year has been reported by Chrysler Corp. as the firm struggles to cut its operating costs.

Board Chairman Lynn Townsend and President Virgil E. Boyd told Chrysler stockholders in a letter Monday that profits plunged to $3.8 million, or seven cents per share, from the $29.7 million, or 63 cents a share, for the same period last year.

The profit nosedive was blamed on higher costs of materials, labor, selling and marketing autos, interest rates and costs of product improvements in the new 1970 models.

They said profits totaled $93.2 million, or $1.97 a share, in the first nine months of this year. This was a 47 per cent decline from the record $178.5 million, or $3.83 per share, in the January-September span of 1968.

Townsend and Boyd recently announced cutbacks in Chrysler's capital improvement program and orders to lay off a number of the firm's 40,000 white-collar workers.

Chrysler's U.S. passenger car market fell from 18.5 per cent to 17 per cent during the first nine months of 1969 with retail sales of 1,070,053 cars. Last year, retail sales totaled 1,160,328 for the same period.

Collision With OSP Car Kills Man, Injures Officer

A head-on collision on Route 23 at 10:24 p.m. Monday claimed the life of one man and put a State Highway patrolman in University Hospital, Columbus.

Barton C. Cook, 52, of Chillicothe was killed and Samuel E. Hamblin, 28, Route 3, Circleville, was taken to Berger Hospital and transferred to University Hospital. Hamblin suffered lacerations of the face and right leg and a broken right ankle.

John Edsall of Columbus told the sheriff he had entered the overpass when the southbound car passed him and collided with the patrol car going north.

Straley pursuing south stated, "I was approaching the bridge going south when I saw the headlights go up in the air and I knew there had been a collision. I immediately notified the sheriff and patrol and called for ambulance and wrecker."

Mr. Cook was born March 27, 1917, in Ross County. He was a veteran of World War II. He is survived by his widow, Mary Elizabeth Cook; his father, Claude Cook, Bourneville; one daughter, Robin, of the home; three sons, Greg, Cincinnati; Brent, who is attending the University of Cincinnati; Christopher, of the home; one sister, Mrs. Myrl (Dorothy) Shoemaker, Bainbridge; one grandson.

FUNERAL services will be 2 p.m. Thursday at Fawcett-Oliver Funeral Home, Chillicothe. Burial will be in Twin Twp. Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home beginning 4 p.m. Wednesday.

Japan To Get Okinawa Back

U.S. To Retain Base On Island

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and Japan have reached an understanding for the return of Okinawa to Tokyo's administrative control by 1972 while maintaining the U.S. military base on the island, official sources say.

The agreement will call for taking U.S. nuclear weapons off the island, held by the United States since the Japanese defeat in World War II, according to the officials.

President Nixon and Japanese Prime Minister Eisaku Sato plan to issue a joint statement about the transfer when they conclude their Nov. 19-21 meeting in Washington, the officials said.

It will provide the date and the conditions to be embodied in a formal agreement negotiated after the Sato-Nixon meeting.

Negotiation of the final agreement, Nixon administration officials said, may take a year or more. When the United States and Japan reached an agreement in 1967 for the return of Iwo Jima and the Bonin Islands, it took seven months to negotiate the final details.

Officials say that the details are far more complicated in the case of Okinawa and the Ryukyu Islands. U.S. officials are not willing to detail in advance conditions for use of Okinawa as a major U.S. military outpost in the western Pacific.

But Japan will take over the job of actually defending the strategic chain with its own sea, ground and air defense units, they said.

Deputies Wound Fleeing Suspect

STUEBENVILLE, Ohio (AP) — A West Virginia fugitive shot and wounded by Jefferson County sheriff's deputies Monday night remained under intensive care at Ohio Valley Hospital today.

Deputies said they fired at Floyd Hennis, 21, of Wellsburg, W.Va., after Hennis fled from the taxi in which he was riding in Steubenville and fired three times at the deputies.

Hennis, deputies said, was wanted in connection with a $2,099 theft of mining equipment in Brooke County, W.Va. They said a fugitive warrant had been issued for Hennis after he escaped from Brooke County deputies last Wednesday.

Waverly To Become Full-Fledged City

WAVERLY, Ohio (AP) — Waverly will become Pike County's first city next month.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown certified Waverly's population as 5,028 Monday, which meets Ohio's minimum population requirement of 5,000 for city status. In 29 days Waverly will replace Highland Heights in Cuyahoga County as the state's newest city.

Columbus Puts Curbs On SDS

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — City council here last night adopted legislation aimed at restricting the activities of the Students for a Democratic Society and similar organizations.

Two ordinances adopted unanimously bars persons from entering school property for offensive acts and outlaws the distribution of printed material inciting lawless action.

Opposition came from two leaders of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees and the executive director of the American Civil Liberties Union.

Half Million Japanese Stage Protest Against Vietnam War

TOKYO (AP) — An estimated 500,000 Japanese leftists staged rowdy demonstrations against the Vietnam war throughout the country today. The most serious clashes occurred in Tokyo, where 480 persons were arrested and 20 policemen were injured.

Young leftists also made abortive attempts to set off explosions at two American bases near Tokyo. But most of the radical students used Molotov cocktails against the police.

More than 75,000 policemen had been mobilized, 25,000 of them in Tokyo. Shops and offices closed early, shop windows were boarded up or shattered, and millions hurried to get home before the turnout for the International Antiwar Day, a four-year-old observance which has never caught on outside Japan.

The big Shinjuku railway station just outside Tokyo was a main target of students who hurled fire bombs and rocks at the buildings and police. Trains in and out of the station were canceled.

The station was the scene of violent attacks during the demonstration a year ago, and the demonstrators caused an estimated $1 million damage.

Reports from Okinawa said an estimated 50,000 persons took part in rallies on the island and others of the Ryukyu chain. About 15,000 demonstrators gathered in Naha to demand the immediate return of Okinawa and the scrapping of the U.S.-Japan security treaty, newsmen said.

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet and Czechoslovak leaders today began talks in the Kremlin that Prague said would lead to a declaration of "basic political importance."

Czechoslovak Communist party first secretary Gustav Husak, Premier Oldrich Cernik and President Ludvik Svoboda arrived Monday for a nine-day visit. Today they settled down to formal talks with Soviet Communist party General Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev, Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and President Nikolai V. Podgorniy.

A brief official announcement gave no indication of the subjects being discussed, but observers here believe one result will be a large loan to shore up the Czechoslovak economy.

Veep Explains 'Southern Policy'

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew says the Republican party would give Southerners a fair deal without racism or a sellout to the South.

He told a Mississippi state GOP fund-raising dinner Monday night that "we have no Southern strategy."

"We do have a conviction that the people of the United States, irrespective of their point of geographic residence, have an inherent right to be treated evenly by their government."

Rhodes Likely Not To Sue Life Magazine

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes has all but decided against suing Life magazine for libel because of a 1964 U.S. Supreme Court decision involving the New York Times. It was learned today.

For several months, attorney friends of the governor have been researching libel laws. A thick report on the research, with certain passages underlined, was recently turned over to his office.

"The problem is that under the New York Times vs. Sullivan decision there is virtually no chance for a public official to collect in a libel suit," a source close to Rhodes said.

He added:

"In effect, the court ruled in that case that a public official was fair game for the muckrakers. Life is hiding behind the New York Times decision."

"If it hadn't been for that decision, they wouldn't have dared to print the things they did about Gov. Rhodes."

Life, in an article last spring, accused the governor of manipulating political funds for his own use and insinuated he acted improperly in commuting the life sentence of mobster Thomas (Yonnie) Licavoli.

Although Rhodes commuted Licavoli's sentence to make him eligible for parole, the onetime Toledo hoodlum remains behind bars. His bid for freedom was rejected by the parole board.

In the New York Times vs. Sullivan case, the Supreme Court said a public official must show "actual malice" on the part of the publication printing the accusations.

"The Life article was clearly a case of vicious character assassination, but it is extremely difficult to prove it," the source said.

Report U.S. Merchant Marine In Deplorable Condition

WASHINGTON (AP) — Since World War II the U.S. merchant fleet has been deteriorating and today 96 per cent of imported raw materials arrive in America aboard foreign ships.

The situation is so serious that the new chairman of the U.S. Maritime Commission, Helen D. Bentley, says it is necessary to act now "before our own stupidity and the Russians bury us at sea."

In a Washington speech, Mrs. Bentley said the Russians speak "of the foreign ports they enter and boast of the fact that their seamen serve as ambassadors to the people of other countries, cementing friendship for Russia and advancing the Communist view among the people of foreign lands . . ."

The Nixon Administration has indicated it wants at least 30 per cent of the nation's overseas trade handled on American ships by the mid-1970s.

The AFL-CIO at its 1969 convention in Atlantic City bent even further, passing a resolution saying:

"We must aggressively seek a declaration by the administration and Congress that at least 50 per cent of our foreign trade should be carried in American bottoms."

Immediately after World War II, American flag ships carried 57.6 per cent of U.S. foreign trade. By 1968 the figure had dropped to 6.4 per cent. The United States now ranks sixth in the number of cargo ships and fifth in cargo capacity.

Insofar as raw materials are concerned, the United States is almost entirely an importer. Television sets, yard chairs, stoves, automobiles—almost every item around an American home represents the use of raw materials brought to this country by ships.

The list of most import items is long and impressive. A few and the amount of import in relation to use: bauxite for aluminum, 87 per cent; columbite-tantalite used in aerospace and nuclear activity, 100; chromite for ammunition and jet engines, 100; beryl for sparkplugs, 89; manganese, 99; rubber, 100; tin, 99.98.

As of last Aug. 1, the privately operated fleet—scheduled liners and the so-called "tramp" steamers — amounted to 995 vessels.

These included 25 freight-passenger 655 freighters and 274 tankers.

And the fleet is old. Seventy per cent of the freighters, 90 per cent of the bulk carriers and 50 per cent of the tankers are more than 20 years old. They are expensive to operate and maintain.

Gulf States Eye Progress Of Hurricane

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Gale force winds from 100-mile-an-hour Hurricane Laurie began whipping Louisiana's offshore waters near the mouth of the Mississippi River today.

The powerful storm lost forward speed during the morning as it moved sluggishly through the Gulf of Mexico. The New Orleans Weather Bureau said Laurie would have a slow and erratic movement today but that a drift toward the northeast was indicated.

At 7 a.m. the hurricane center was located about 230 miles south of New Orleans after drifting eastward at 5 mph for a few hours.

Thousands of residents along Louisiana's vulnerable low coast fled inland for fear of being trapped in a danger zone.

If Laurie, the eighth hurricane of the season, curved more to the northeast, she could move onto Mississippi's coast, devastated by Hurricane Camille two months ago, or even farther east to Alabama or Florida.

A hurricane watch was in force from Galveston, Tex., to Apalachicola, Fla.—some 600 miles.

Due to her shift to the east, the Weather Bureau said the threat to the Texas and west Louisiana coast had lessened—but that the hurricane watch should remain.

The hurricane sent howling gales whipping the sea for 160 miles to the north and east of its center.

The most extensive exodus Monday was from Lafourche Parish (county), to the west of New Orleans, where civil defense asked some 25,000 residents to move to refuge centers at Lockport, Riceland and Thibodaux.

2 Sharp Battles Flare Up Along Border Near Saigon

DRIVER KILLED — Barton C. Cook, 32, Chillicothe, was killed when his car (right) crashed headon with a Highway Patrol car driven by Samuel Hamblin, of the local OSP post. Hamblin was admitted to University Hospital, Columbus, where he is in "fair" condition today. Cook, the father of Cincinnati Bengals quarterback Greg Cook, was southbound in the northbound lane of Route 23. The two cars collided at the top of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad overpass.

7 Americans Killed, 18 Hurt In Firefights

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese troops killed seven Americans, wounded 18 others and damaged two helicopters in two sharp fights Monday near the Cambodian border north of Saigon. The U.S. Command said 16 of the enemy were killed.

Farther south along the border, other American air cavalrymen exchanged machine-gun and rifle fire for nearly three hours with North Vietnamese troops 58 miles northwest of Saigon. Two helicopters supporting the ground troops were hit by machine-gun fire which wounded three crewmen, but the helicopters made it back to their bases.

U.S. spokesmen said two Americans were killed and two were wounded on the ground, and two enemy bodies were found on the battlefield.

One North Vietnamese force apparently took about 150 troops of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division by surprise as they waited in a landing zone 85 miles northeast of Saigon for helicopters to pick them up after a reconnaissance patrol.

The North Vietnamese opened up with a 25-round mortar barrage and machine-gun and rifle fire, killing five Americans and wounding 13 before the company could take cover.

American artillery, helicopter gunships and dive-bombers raked the enemy positions, and 14 North Vietnamese soldiers were reported killed in the 30-minute counterattack.

As the lull in the war continued in its seventh week, South Vietnamese headquarters reported a slight increase in enemy terror attacks. It said the Viet Cong attacked three hamlets along the central coast and shelled two district towns in the Mekong Delta, killing three civilians, wounding 18 and kidnapping one.

Medic Says Autopsy Would Be Helpful In Kopechne Case

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP) — A Philadelphia medical examiner says an autopsy on the body of Mary Jo Kopechne "would tend to confirm, tend to modify, or could negate" the drowning verdict issued by a medical examiner in Massachusetts.

Dr. Joseph W. Spelman said he had performed several thousand autopsies and that an external examination alone, such as was performed on Miss Kopechne, "even if carefully and thoroughly" done, frequently failed to reveal internal injuries.

Chrysler Faces Bad Profit Slump

DETROIT (AP) — An 87 per cent slump in profits for the third quarter of this year has been reported by Chrysler Corp. as the firm struggles to cut its operating costs.

Board Chairman Lynn Townsend and President Virgil E. Boyd told Chrysler stockholders in a letter Monday that profits plunged to $3.8 million, or seven cents per share, from the $29.7 million, or 63 cents a share, for the same period last year.

The profit nosedive was blamed on higher costs of materials, labor, selling and marketing autos, interest rates and costs of product improvements in the new 1970 models.

They said profits totaled $93.2 million, or $1.97 a share, in the first nine months of this year. This was a 47 per cent decline from the record $178.5 million, or $3.83 per share, in the January-September span of 1968.

Townsend and Boyd recently announced cutbacks in Chrysler's capital improvement program and orders to lay off a number of the firm's 40,000 white-collar workers.

Chrysler's U.S. passenger car market fell from 18.5 per cent to 17 per cent during the first nine months of 1969 with retail sales of 1,070,053 cars. Last year, retail sales totaled 1,160,328 for the same period.

Collision With OSP Car Kills Man, Injures Officer

A head on collision on Route 23 at 10:24 p.m. Monday claimed the life of one man and put a State Highway patrolman in University Hospital, Columbus.

Barton C. Cook, 32, of Chillicothe was killed and Samuel E. Hamblin, 28, Route 3, Circleville, was taken to Berger Hospital and transferred to University Hospital. Hamblin suffered lacerations of the face and right leg and a broken right ankle.

John Edsall of Columbus told the sheriff he had entered the overpass when the southbound car passed him and collided with the patrol car going north.

Straley pursuing south stated, "I was approaching the bridge going south when I saw the headlights go up in the air and I knew there had been a collision. I immediately notified the sheriff and patrol and called for ambulance and wrecker."

Mr. Cook was born March 27, 1917, in Ross County. He was a veteran of World War II. He is survived by his widow, Mary Elizabeth Cook; his father, Claude Cook, Bourneville; one daughter, Robin, of the home; three sons, Greg, Cincinnati; Brent, who is attending the University of Cincinnati; Christopher, of the home; one sister, Mrs. Myrl (Dorothy) Shoemaker, Bainbridge; one grandson.

The big Shinjuku railway station just outside Tokyo was a main target of students who hurled fire bombs and rocks at the buildings and police. Trains in and out of the station were canceled.

The station was the scene of violent attacks during the demonstration a year ago, and the demonstrators caused an estimated $1 million damage.

Reports from Okinawa said an estimated 50,000 persons took part in rallies on the island and others of the Ryukyu chain. About 15,000 demonstrators gathered in Naha to demand the immediate return of Okinawa and the scrapping of the U.S.-Japan security treaty, newsmen said.

Veep Explains 'Southern Policy'

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew says the Republican party would give Southerners a fair deal without racism or a sellout to the South.

He told a Mississippi state GOP fund-raising dinner Monday night that "we have no Southern strategy."

"We do have a conviction that the people of the United States, irrespective of their point of geographic residence, have an inherent right to be treated evenhandedly by their government."

Rhodes Likely Not To Sue Life Magazine

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes has all but decided against suing Life magazine for libel because of a 1964 U.S. Supreme Court decision involving the New York Times. It was learned today.

For several months, attorney friends of the governor have been researching libel laws. A thick report on the research, with certain passages underlined, was recently turned over to his office.

"The problem is that under the New York Times vs. Sullivan decision there is virtually no chance for a public official to collect in a libel suit," a source close to Rhodes said.

He added:

"In effect, the court ruled in that case that a public official was fair game for the muck-rackers. Life is hiding behind the New York Times decision."

"If it hadn't been for that decision, they wouldn't have dared to print the things they did about Gov. Rhodes."

Life, in an article last spring, accused the governor of manipulating political funds for his own use and insinuated he acted improperly in commuting the life sentence of mobster Thomas (Yonnie) Licavoli.

Although Rhodes commuted Licavoli's sentence to make him eligible for parole, the onetime Toledo hoodlum remains behind bars. His bid for freedom was rejected by the parole board.

In the New York Times vs. Sullivan case, the Supreme Court said a public official must show "actual malice" on the part of the publication printing the accusations.

"The Life article was clearly a case of vicious character assassination, but it is extremely difficult to prove it," the source said.

Report U.S. Merchant Marine In Deplorable Condition

WASHINGTON (AP) — Since World War II the U.S. merchant fleet has been deteriorating and today 96 per cent of imported raw materials arrive in America aboard foreign ships.

The situation is so serious that the new chairman of the U.S. Maritime Commission, Helen D. Bentley, says it is necessary to act now "before our own stupidity and the Russians bury us at sea."

In a Washington speech, Mrs. Bentley said the Russians speak "of the foreign ports they enter and boast of the fact that their seamen serve as ambassadors to the people of other countries, cementing friendship for Russia and advancing the Communist view among the people of foreign lands . . ."

The Nixon Administration has indicated it wants at least 30 per cent of the nation's overseas trade handled on American ships by the mid-1970s.

The AFL-CIO at its 1969 convention in Atlantic City bent even further, passing a resolution saying:

"We must aggressively seek a declaration by the administration and Congress that at least 50 per cent of our foreign trade should be carried in American bottoms."

Immediately after World War II, American flag ships carried 57.6 per cent of U.S. foreign trade. By 1968 the figure had dropped to 6.4 per cent. The United States now ranks sixth in the number of cargo ships and fifth in cargo capacity.

Insofar as raw materials are concerned, the United States is almost entirely an importer. Television sets, yard chairs, stoves, automobiles—almost every item around an American home represents the use of raw materials brought to this country by ships.

The list of most import items is long and impressive. A few and the amount of import in relation to use: bauxite for aluminum, 87 per cent; columbite-tantalite used in aerospace and nuclear activity, 100; chromite for ammunition and jet engines, 100; beryl for sparkplugs, 89; manganese, 99; rubber, 100; tin, 99.98.

As of last Aug. 1, the privately operated fleet—scheduled liners and the so-called "tramp" steamers—amounted to 995 vessels.

These included 25 freight-passenger 655 freighters and 274 tankers.

And the fleet is old. Seventy per cent of the freighters, 90 per cent of the bulk carriers and 50 per cent of the tankers are more than 20 years old. They are expensive to operate and maintain.

The United States does have a massive reserve mothball fleet of 930 ships. But these are so old that one maritime official estimates that within two or three years only 135 to 150 will be effective.

The figures do not include the so-called runaway fleet—the more than 400 American-owned vessels sailing under foreign flags.

U.S. ship owners register their vessels in other countries where taxes are lower, crews come cheaper and maintenance costs are down.

Brandt Takes Over Reins As West German Chancellor

BONN (AP) — The Bundestag elected Willy Brandt chancellor of West Germany today, ending two decades of Christian Democratic rule and giving West Germany its first Socialist chancellor in the nation's 20-year history.

The vote in the lower house of Parliament was 251-235 in Brandt's favor with five deputies abstaining, four ballots invalid and one deputy absent.

Brandt's victory, which gives him a mandate to govern for the next four years, was made possible by a coalition with the tiny Free Democratic party. In the Sept. 28 general election, Brandt's Social Democrats won only 224 seats to the Christian Democrats' 242, but the Free Democrats control 30 seats and gave Brandt the necessary majority.

Brandt, 55, succeeds Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger of the Christian Democrats who Brandt served as foreign minister. They had formed a Christian Democratic-Socialist coalition in December 1966.

Brandt earlier was mayor of West Berlin, a Socialist stronghold.

The vote for Brandt was two more than the required majority of the total 496 seats in the Bundestag. Brandt noted that he got "200 per cent more" votes than Konrad Adenauer did when he was elected West Germany's first chancellor in 1949 by one vote.

"I am thankful and a little bit proud that I am able to hold this office," he declared.

He said he regarded his election as "a major hurdle" for his government coalition of Social Democrats and Free Democrats, but he added that the government's work "will not be all that easy."

Kiesinger said Brandt's small majority on the vote was "a sign of what is ahead."

"The new coalition will have a difficult time," he told newsmen. "It will have an opposition that is stronger than any in previous Bundestag. We will, of course, be a strong opposition."

Kiesinger added that there were differences between the partners in the new governing coalition, but that he expected the two parties to avoid making an issue of them at first.

"One will see how long it lasts," he said.

The U.S. Command announced that another 2,300 U.S. Marines are leaving South Vietnam this week under President Nixon's withdrawal program, including the first major elements of the 3rd Division's 4th Regiment to be pulled out. They are going to Okinawa.

The 4th Regiment, after 4 1/2 years of tough combat from the coastal lowlands to the demilitarized zone, is the last regiment of the 3rd Division still in Vietnam. When it is gone, the only Marine division in the war will be the 1st Division, which is operating along the coastal lowlands south of Da Nang.

Christy requested the trial by jury. His request was granted by Municipal Court Judge Sterling Lamb. He was cited by Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff Robert Hoover.

Christy and his wife received minor injuries. He refused to be taken to Berger Hospital for treatment. His wife was treated and released by the emergency staff at the hospital.

According to the accident report, Christy's car collided head-on with one driven by Garner Cox, 49, 170 Walnut Creek Pike, who also was treated and released at Berger Hospital.

Cox said that Christy came around a curve on the wrong side of the road and it was impossible to avoid the collision.

Cyclamate Production Is Stopped

CHICAGO (AP) — The major producer of cyclamate says 15 per cent of all soft drinks sold in the United States in 1968 contained the artificial sweetener which has been banned by the federal government.

Abbott Laboratories of North Chicago, which manufactured more than half the cyclamate used in this country, said Sunday it had stopped producing the sweetener "pending further discussions."

Millions of weight-conscious Americans will have to turn to new low-calorie nourishment.

The artificial sweetener has been widely used in $1 billion worth of foodstuffs sold annually—not only soft drinks but canned fruits and vegetables, ice cream, cookies and diet mixtures.

A spokesman for Pillsbury Co. in Minneapolis said the firm would replace cyclamate with other sweeteners in its no-calorie and low-calorie lines.

One soft drink manufacturer—Pepsi Co.—announced that it would soon start marketing a cyclamate-free diet drink with only one-sixth the calories of Pepsi-Cola.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare has banned the sale of cyclamate sweetened beverages as of Jan. 1, and of other foodstuffs containing the substance as of Feb. 1.

The department acted Saturday after receiving reports of two studies indicating that rats given big doses of cyclamate developed cancer.

Meanwhile, a Cambridge, Mass., scientist said that experiments showed large cyclamate doses injected into hamsters produced coronary disorders and death.

Dr. Fred Homburger of the Cambridge Bio-Research Institute said the effect developed within three months after the animals were treated with the sweetener.

Another scientist, Dr. David Stone of the Worcester (Mass.) Foundation for Experimental Biology, said rats fed with cyclamate produced offspring who appeared more nervous and active than normal.

Steel Firms Answer U.S. Charges On River Pollution

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Two out of three steel companies have answered the Interior Department's charges that they are polluting Lake Erie and the Cuyahoga River and have told what they plan to do about it. Jones and Laughlin (J&L), Republic and U.S. Steel all were called to a hearing by the federal agency two weeks ago. At that time only J&L's answers to the government's questions were called adequate.

George Harlow, head of the Interior Department's local branch said Monday he had received a report from Republic Steel which only partially satisfied him. He said he would, in turn, submit his report to the Secretary of the Interior who would make the final determination on the completeness of Republic's program.

He added, he has not yet heard from U. S. Steel, but he understood they were working on a report.

Harlow agreed with Republic's charge that certain samples of pollution obtained from the Cuyahoga River might not be representative, and he was taking additional samples.

Republic had challenged the department's charge that the company is discharging 330,000 pounds of oil per day. The government would have the company limit this discharge to 460 pounds per day.

Republic has maintained that they are responsible to the Ohio anti-pollution board and not to Washington.

Harlow commented that in the past the state had not taken sufficient action. "We want the state to take vigorous action," he said, "I've asked the state what they're going to do."

Republic has said that they are building waste treatment plants, but that certain government imposed limits would not be met. They were referring to the oil discharge and a recommended limit on acidity.

Republic has hired the Calgon Co. to hold a pilot study on the removal of cyanides and phenol from the company's discharge; even though, they hold that phenol and cyanides do not affect Lake Erie.

Harlow said, "So far I am pleased with the J&L program." But he wants to make sure they keep up with their building proposals as they outlined two weeks ago.

Views on Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Hollywood producers and directors have learned how to dress up musical numbers for an endless stream of television variety hours, but most slip into old-fashioned comedy sketch department.

"The Carol Burnett Show," breezing along in its fourth season, is, along with "The Red Skelton Show," exceptional in that it specializes in sketches and adds musical numbers mostly for a change of pace. The hour is entertaining and has a friendly informal atmosphere.

On Monday Carol had her usual strong support from Harvey Korman, a fine sketch actor, and an extra assist from Tim Conway, a funny little guy. Conway sparkled particularly as a 91-year-old Lothario in a sketch that satirized the slow and improbable pace of daytime soap operas.

Ken Berry, seen earlier in the evening playing solid Sam Brown in "Mayberry, R.F.D.," put on his dancing shoes to guest on the show and uncorked a thoroughly acceptable singing voice in a couple of numbers with the star.

As if Lana Turner and her "Survivors" on ABC didn't have enough to contend with, NBC on Monday scheduled her 1961 film "By Love Possessed" to compete with Tracy Carley's dramatic reunion—they were fencing—with the father of her child.

ABC's extravagant excursion into evening soap opera first ran into tough production problems and now languishes in the bottom third of the Nielsen list. In the most recent ratings, the show is in 59th position, tied with another disappointment, NBC's "Andy Williams Show," in a roster of 80.

Estimates of audiences for the week of Oct. 6-12 show CBS overtaking NBC for the lead in the averages for the first time this season. CBS had 18.5, with NBC at 17.7 and ABC 16.9.

The new list had some happy surprises for ABC. Its "Movie of the Week" was in first place, followed by NBC's "Laugh-in," "Marcus Welby, M.D." Robert Young's new doctor show on ABC, was third followed by the network's broadcast of the feature film, "Those Magnificent Men in Their Flying Machines."

As the season settles down, it appears that NBC's "Bill Cosby Show"—fifth on the list—is holding its position handily, primarily at the expense of CBS's "Ed Sullivan Show," in 19th.

CBS's "Gunsmoke," NBC's "Bonanza," CBS's "Jackie Gleason Show," "The Glen Campbell Goodtime Hour" and "Family Affair," tied with NBC's Disney hour make up the rest of the front-running shows.

George Harlow, head of the Interior Department's local branch said Monday he had received a report from Republic Steel which only partially satisfied him. He said he would, in turn, submit his report to the Secretary of the Interior who would make the final determination on the completeness of Republic's program.

He added, he has not yet heard from U. S. Steel, but he understood they were working on a report.

Harlow agreed with Republic's charge that certain samples of pollution obtained from the Cuyahoga River might not be representative, and he was taking additional samples.

Republic had challenged the department's charge that the company is discharging 330,000 pounds of oil per day. The government would have the company limit this discharge to 460 pounds per day.

Republic has maintained that they are responsible to the Ohio anti-pollution board and not to Washington.

Harlow commented that in the past the state had not taken sufficient action, "We want the state to take vigorous action," he said, "I've asked the state what they're going to do."

Republic has said that they are building waste treatment plants, but that certain government imposed limits would not be met. They were referring to the oil discharge and a recommended limit on acidity.

Republic has hired the Calgon Co. to hold a pilot study on the removal of cyanides and phenol from the company's discharge; even though, they hold that phenol and cyanides do not affect Lake Erie.

Harlow said, "So far I am pleased with the J&L program." But he wants to make sure they keep up with their building proposals as they outlined two weeks ago.

Young GOP To Receive Charter

The Pickaway County Young Republican Club will meet 8 p.m. tonight at the First Presbyterian Church.

The meeting is open to the public. The charter for the club will be presented to Eugene Dowler, president of the club, by Miss Janice Wolfe, co-chairman of the Ohio League of Young Republicans.

Miss Wolfe is also the regional director for the Ohio League for a 6-county area. She is a native of Racine, a graduate from Ohio University with a bachelor of arts in political science and an LL.B. in law from Ohio State University.

She works as assistant attorney general for Ohio Attorney General Paul W. Brown. Miss Wolfe is in charge of the enforcement of charitable trusts for the state. She has served in this capacity for five years. Main speaker for the evening will be Roger Gillespie of Middletown.

Gillespie is the newly-elected chairman of the Ohio League of Young Republican Clubs. He has been an active young Republican since 1964 and has been a member of the executive committee four years.

He is also a past treasurer of the Ohio League and a past director of the Clubs' Aid Division, serving for three years.

President Dowler said this is the first time that an Ohio League officer has attended a meeting in Pickaway County.

Car Leaves Road, Three Injured

The Pickaway County Sheriff's Department investigated an injury accident at 10:45 p.m. Sunday on Route 104 near the intersection of Route 316.

Cecil H. McDaniels, 21, of Roanoke, Va., told Deputy Bill Dountz he was southbound on 104. Going into a curve he was blinded by oncoming lights and lost control of the car. The car left the road and hit two parked cars.

McDaniels and his passengers, Thelma Dianne McDaniels, 20, and Winford Moore, 32, were admitted to Berger Hospital for various injuries.

Dountz arrested McDaniels for reckless operation of a vehicle.

Views on Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Hollywood producers and directors have learned how to dress up musical numbers for an endless stream of television variety hours, but most slip into doldrums in the comedy sketch department.

"The Carol Burnett Show," breezing along in its fourth season, is, along with "The Red Skelton Show," exceptional in that it specializes in sketches and adds musical numbers mostly for a change of pace. The hour is entertaining and has a friendly informal atmosphere.

On Monday Carol had her usual strong support from Harvey Korman, a fine sketch actor, and an extra assist from Tim Conway, a funny little guy. Conway sparkled particularly as a 91-year-old Lothario in a sketch that satirized the slow and improbable pace of daytime soap operas.

Ken Berry, seen earlier in the evening playing solid Sam Brown in "Mayberry, R.F.D.," put on his dancing shoes to guest on the show and uncorked a thoroughly acceptable singing voice in a couple of numbers with the star.

As if Lana Turner and her "Survivors" on ABC didn't have enough to contend with, NBC on Monday scheduled her 1961 film "By Love Possessed" to compete with Tracy Carlyle's dramatic reunion—they were fending—with the father of her child.

ABC's extravagant excursion into evening soap opera first ran into tough production problems and now languishes in the bottom third of the Nielsen list. In the most recent ratings, the show is in 59th position, tied with another disappointment, NBC's "Andy Williams Show," in a roster of 80.

Estimates of audiences for the week of Oct. 6-12 show CBS overtaking NBC for the lead in the averages for the first time this season. CBS had 18.5, with NBC at 17.7 and ABC 16.9.

The new list had some happy surprises for ABC. Its "Movie of the Week" was in first place, followed by NBC's "Laugh-In," "Marcus Welby, M.D.," Robert Young's new doctor show on ABC, was third followed by the network's broadcast of the feature film, "Those Magnificent Men in Their Flying Machines."

As the season settles down, it appears that NBC's "Bill Cosby Show"—fifth on the list—is holding its position handsily, primarily at the expense of CBS's "Ed Sullivan Show," in 19th.

CBS's "Gunsmoke," NBC's "Bonanza," CBS's "Jackie Gleason Show," "The Glen Campbell Goodtime Hour" and "Family Affair," tied with NBC's Disney hour make up the rest of the front-running shows.

Housing In Trouble

A nation with a growing, affluent population and a shrinking supply of new housing, is headed for serious trouble. That is the position the United States finds itself in today, and as one government official said, "it's going to get a lot worse before it gets better."

High interest rates, a shortage of mortgage money, and high construction costs have formed a powerful wedge against home ownership for many Americans. It has all but wiped out available rental housing in some areas.

The housing shortage has been labeled critical by high administration officials, housing industry officials, Senate and House investigating committees and labor unions. But no one has taken significant steps to improve the situation.

At the beginning of the year, new housing starts were at an annual rate of 1.9 million, short of the 2 million new starts deemed necessary to keep up with population trends. But by midyear the annual rate has dropped to 1.3 million, and there have been predictions the figure may drop to 800,000 by the end of the year.

Affected are not only would-be home buyers, but large numbers in forest, mills, building and affiliated industries. The northeast is the hardest hit by the critical shortage, but it is rapidly spreading to all parts of the nation.

Perhaps the single most restrictive feature in the national economy affecting housing is the tight money policy. Lower interest rates and funneling of more funds into mortgage lending would provide the most efficacious immediate shot in the arm.

But the inflated cost of new housing would be only partly relieved by new monetary or fiscal policies.

It would be difficult to find any large industry in which inflation has taken a greater toll than in housing. The prediction that in the near future families may be forced to double up is only one probable consequence if some strong medicine is not soon forthcoming for a very sick industry.

Spurring sales of mobile homes as substitutes and renewed experimentation with new types of prefabricated housing are factors indicating a new trend in living space for Americans is in the making.

Such innovations will continue to accelerate as long as present conditions prevail.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEWYORK (AP) — Some of the bright young executives of the soaring 1960s may have burnt themselves out in the competitive scramble, and are now biologically alive but psychologically dying and unable to compete in the 70s.

This is the conclusion of Dr. Eugene Jennings, professor, management consultant and personal adviser to executives. "The affluence of the 60s," he said the other day, "was achieved at a considerable human cost."

Jennings has noted the appearance in growing numbers of "short cycle winners" and terms them subclinically sick. "They suffer from energy fatigue and, unable to recoup, plug away but with little success."

The major cause of energy fatigue is years of doing unpleasant jobs, forcing the body forward as if it were a machine. And the symptoms generally are associated with "an over-subscription to security equivalents."

The executive tends to sleep more, eat more, drink more and to rely on sex, not so much out of need for its use as an emotional anesthetic.

Frequently the executive will go in for a spurt of exercise as he begins to recognize his deterioration. But then he drops it. "The truth is," says Jennings, "he is too tired to reorganize his career."

What brought these executives to their sorry condition?

"The opportunity to go to the top by dint of effort and skill was too great to restrain," Jennings believes. "They over-invested energy during the climb and now, near the top, have no reserve fuel with which to live up to their reputations."

For a time they can hide their impotence by delegating authority. They build strong subordinate staffs. They sit back and become big shots.

"The fact of the matter is," Jennings said, "that they use a legitimate management responsibility—the need for a strong staff—to protect their weaknesses. But when a crisis occurs they don't have the energy reserve to play it cool. They blow up."

Jennings, who advises both corporations on their personal situations and individuals on their personal careers, has advice for both.

—For the corporation: Take a careful look before hiring an outsider or promoting from within a man whose mobility is ahead of his age group. He could be a worm out thoroughbred who had come to rest and repose."

—For the individual: A new career or at least a sabbatical. Since this is often impossible for financially insecure executives, the more realistic answer lies in priority living.

This means deciding what is worthwhile and pleasurable in both job and personal life and placing them above the unpleasant chores. It means setting up goals. It means getting rid of irritating chores, if possible.

It means, essentially, breaking the bonds and enjoying life. Jennings believes that corporations might consider identifying certain jobs as killers and automatically remove the executive after a period of time without humiliating him or damaging his career.

After recouping his energies in a less stressful position, Jennings believes, the executive should be available again to handle another killer job.

Attempted Bank Robbery Fails; Thugs Too Late

MOBERLY, Mo. (AP) — Robbers went to a lot of trouble in the community of nearby Clifton Hill over the weekend to rob a bank that wasn't there.

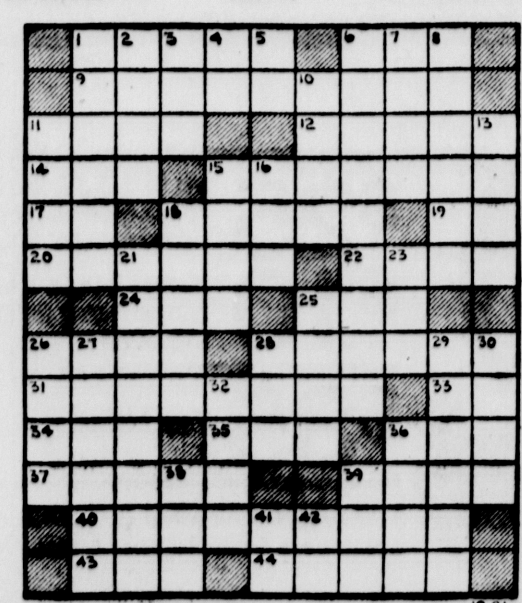

They took a ladder from a lumber yard next to the old Clifton Hill Savings Bank, and cut power lines to a burglar alarm. After failing in an attempt to enter through a rear door, they entered by removing iron bars from a window.

The building, vacated almost two years ago, was empty. The building's owner found blow torches left by the intruders when he visited the building Sunday.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A BRIGHT EIGHT-YEAR-OLD GIRL was being questioned by an inquisitive aunt, "What are you going to give your little brother David for Christmas this year?" "I haven't decided yet," said the girl. "Well," persisted the aunt, "what did you give him last Christmas?" The little girl answered, "The whooping cough."

Winning a battle with a computer system is getting to be more fun than sneaking into the subway through an exit gate used to be when we were kids. Let's give a great big hand to latest winner Jerome T. Parker. Mr. Parker, for reasons unknown to him, received a bill from an oil company for several consecutive months for $80.00. He laughingly showed the bills to friends and waited for the bills to stop coming. When he got one marked "Final Notice," however, plus a threat to turn the account over to a notoriously tough collection agency, he wrote out a check for no dollars and no cents, signed his name thereto, and mailed it to the oil company with a note saying, "This pays my account in full."

Darned if he didn't get a form letter in return thanking him for his patronage.

George Jessel, untiring promoter of Israeli government bonds, returned from a particularly strenuous money-raising tour to report, "Am I bushed? Twenty days without a pause. I didn't leave one Cohen untended!"

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

My husband and I are terribly upset because our daughter has developed a severe case of trench mouth. The attitude of her classmates in the senior year of high school makes her feel as if she has a venereal disease. I hope that you can tell your readers that this is not so.

Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Illinois Dear Mr. & Mrs. R.: Let me immediately set to rest your own anxieties. Trench mouth is not, most definitely not a venereal disease. It is known as Vincent's angina or Vincent's disease and is caused by a special type of bacteria that affects the gums, the lining of the mouth, the throat and the tonsil area. Frequently these germs gain a foothold during periods of extreme fatigue or after recovery from an exhausting infection.

Inadequate sleep or rest, too much tobacco and alcoholic indiscretion reduce the vitality of the body and allow the invasion of these bacteria. Obviously this is not the case with your child.

Poor dental hygiene and neglect of bleeding gums may invite these infections. It must be emphasized that trench mouth is not considered to be a contagious disease and therefore the cruel intimidation by youngsters that this is "a kissing disease" has little or no basis for fact.

The diagnosis is made by examining smears and looking for the offending fusiform germs that are so distinctive to this condition. The antibiotics, especially Penicillin, are very effective in curing the condition. Mouth hygiene must be very rigid if the condition is to be permanently cured or kept from returning.

Despite the fact that the general attitude today is that trench mouth is not a contagious disease, a risk should not be taken by using glasses or dishes of people who are in an active stage of infection. I am certain that the attitude of her classmates has no real significance and that they are simply displaying the harsh, teasing tendencies of that age group.

A man passed out cold right next to us in a restaurant. He seemed to be in a coma and no one seemed to know what caused it. What can a layman do in such a situation?

Mr. G.S.P., Virginia Dear Mr. P.: Even physicians have difficulty in deciding what the exact cause of unconsciousness is in a situation you describe. A state of coma is one in which a person is in a deep stupor from which he cannot be aroused. This is different from a temporary fainting spell. The causes of coma are many and often need a great deal of study to find the basic reason.

The best a layman can do in such a situation is to loosen the belt, tie and collar and give assurance to the victim. Calling for professional help should be the first impulse.

Good Side Of Imperialism

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Colon, Panama — You stand by the shore here, at the Caribbean entrance to the Panama Canal, and watch ships from all over the world throw out their anchors to wait for clearance through one of the engineering marvels of the century. Meanwhile, back home in the U.S., the Vietnam Mobilization and SDS crowds are demonstrating against American "imperialism," the alleged monster which, among other things, built the Canal.

It's all quite understandable, of course, that many of the American young are forswearing any responsibility for the world outside their country's borders. We taught them — didn't we? — that our good works overseas were born in skulduggery. President Theodore Roosevelt, according to the standard muckraking texts, connived to help local revolutionists separate Panama from Colombia, and the first Panamanian government, born in illegality, forthwith made a deal guaranteeing the U.S. rights to a ten-mile-wide Canal Zone strip "in perpetuity."

But that was long ago, and financial reparations was made to Colombia, much to the disgust of Teddy Roosevelt's spirited daughter, Alice Longworth, who always held her father morally blameless for the original Panamanian revolution. Regardless of the original rights and wrongs of the matter, the reparations closed the books on the business. We were "clean" after that.

As for the Canal itself, a day spent in travelling along its length by the Panama Railroad and watching the ships go through the locks can only thrill an American. The land, before the U.S. purchased the rights to it, was a jungle made virtually useless by yellow fever, malaria and a score of parasitical intestinal diseases. Forty thousand workers had died when the French tried to dig a waterway through the continental divide before we took over.

We cleaned the Zone up, but we don't hear any praise from the SDS types on our campuses for Colonel William Crawford Gorgas, our "imperialist" sanitation expert. Nor do we hear a good word said for Colonel George Goethals and John F. Stevens and the other engineers who literally moved mountains to connect the Atlantic and the Pacific, a boon that has enabled Soviet ships as well as American to dispense with the long, costly voyage around Cape Horn. Indeed, it is doubtful that the names of Goethals, Stevens, and the rest are known to the American young today.

You feel differently about American "imperialism" when you see some of its consequences from close up. There may be a case in sheer goodwill for sharing more of the profits of the Canal with the Panamanian State. On an annual gross of $90 million in Canal tolls (and a net profit of $14 million) we could perhaps afford to give Panama something more than the $1.93 million it now collects in accordance with the Treaty of 1955. But the Canal pours $150,000,000 a year into the economy of Panama through the direct and indirect business generated by its existence. This is money that wouldn't be there if "imperialism" hadn't done a commendable and necessary job.

There have been Panamanian Presidents who shrilled against the U.S. gringos for insisting that U.S. possession of the rights to the Canal Zone "in perpetuity" means just that. But the local Panamanian National Guard, which consists of 2,000 men, could hardly be counted on to defend the Canal against Castroite marauders if the U.S. should, in deference to the "liberal" clique, pack up and go home. Nor could the remarkable free trade zone established by the Panamanian government in a hundred-acre strip at Colon continue to exist if the Canal hadn't been built and defended by the U.S.

This free trade zone is a gigantic wholesale shopping center that has blocks of modern warehouses. The goods pour into the Colon free zone from all over the world without paying duty. Some 2,500 young Panamanian office workers, dispensing with bureaucratic red tape, take orders from all over North and Central America for Japanese-made tape recorders and TV sets, whiskies from Scotland, wines and perfumes from France, dresses made locally from pattern cuttings sent down from New York City, and countless other items ranging from machine tools to musical instruments. Packaging, printing, labeling, and assembling are done in the Colon free zone at nominal cost. The value of the goods that passed in 1968 through the one to Latin America retailers without any tariff costs added up to $333,000,000. "Imperialism" of the good U.S. variety is what made this boon to Panama — and the hemisphere — possible.

WASHINGTON MEMO

By Congressman
CHALMERS P. WYLIE
15th District of Ohio

The Vietnam moratorium made news in the House of Representatives as it did in almost every walk of life this week. On Tuesday night, 24 House Members had asked for special orders which would total 23 hours and 15 minutes. As the "moratorium discussion" began, a motion to adjourn was made which was defeated by a vote of 210 to 99. After 5 1/2 hours, the House, by a vote of 112 to 110, did vote to adjourn, far short of the 23 hours requested by moratorium proponents. The House was orderly during the 5 1/2 hours, the galleries were full, and the time passed without incident.

The most dramatic moment came when a letter from Pham Van Dong, Premier of North Vietnam — addressed to the American people and released over Hanoi radio — was read. His letter endorsed the moratorium and pledged support for the struggle of the people of North Vietnam and the progressive people of the United States against United States aggression and called for support of the aims of those who participated in the moratorium and asked for immediate withdrawal of all American troops. This is precisely why I was not one of those who supported the moratorium. I felt it might encourage North Vietnam to wait awhile and not to negotiate any sort of settlement. It seems to me that demonstrations such as those held on Moratorium Day make meaningful peace negotiations virtually impossible. I wish those who participated in the demonstrations on the moratorium and who say they desire peace so much, as we all do, would direct their many energies and pressures against the North Vietnamese Government and disavow their unwillingness to make any gesture toward peace.

On Tuesday the House passed by a vote of 310 to 52 a Federal Salary Comparability Act of 1969. Its basic purpose is to provide salary comparability for postal employees with persons doing the same work in private industry. The recommendation was a result of a Presidential Salary Study Commission. A provision which would allow the commission to fix salaries without the intervention of Congress was deleted from the bill. The Commission was retained in an advisory capacity.

On Wednesday, the House passed Coinage Act Amendments which would provide for the coining of dollars, half-dollars, quarters and dimes.

There were two significant changes in the Coinage Act. One provides for the authorization of the coining of a cupro-nickel clad dollar coin (without silver) bearing the likeness of the late President of the United States, Dwight David Eisenhower. On the back the dollar will have the inscription, "We came in peace for all mankind" and the official design emblematic of the Apollo 11 flight.

The Kennedy half dollar, which contains 40 per cent silver, will have the silver removed effective January 1, 1971, under the provision of this bill.

The Senate passed, on the same day, a bill which would authorize the minting of clad 40 per cent silver dollars bearing the likeness of the late Dwight David Eisenhower. If the Senate and House do not concur as to whether the Eisenhower dollar will contain silver, this will be the subject for a conference committee.

On Thursday, the House passed the Export Control Act Extension. This is a bill which would give the President the authority to control exports to Communist nations and nations which are deemed to be unfriendly to the United States.

The Senate cleared for Presidential action a bill which would extend authorization for construction grants for educational TV and radio broadcasting facilities. The amount authorized is $10 million.

The Senate passed a bill which would authorize funds to extend the programs under the Economic Opportunity Act. This bill will now come to the House for action.

VFW Executive Fired In Dispute

LORAIN, Ohio (AP) — Lorain insurance executive Alfred Porkolab says he has been removed as chairman of the legislative committee of the Ohio Veterans of Foreign Wars because he changed his stand on U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

Porkolab, a World War II veteran who was honored as Lorain's veteran of the year in 1960, said he was relieved of his VFW legislative duties by Ohio Department Commander Sam Warmoth. He said the action came after he was quoted in an interview in the Lorain Journal that he no longer considered it in the best interests of this country to continue the war in Vietnam.

Porkolab said he replied to Warmoth in a letter saying that "if the price tag to serve an organization, be it the VFW or any other, is going to be a muzzle or become a puppet on a string, that price is too high—it is outrageous, it is unreal and it is un-American."

Reds Make War Vow

MOSCOW (AP) — North Vietnam vowed again Monday that the people of North and South Vietnam will fight on until all U. S. troops are removed from Vietnam.

North Vietnamese Premier Pham Van Dong and Premier Alexei Kosygin signed a joint communique after a week of talks. It said:

"Carrying into life the behests of Ho Chi Minh, the people of South Vietnam, together with their compatriots in the North of the country, relying on the support of all progressive forces of the world, are determined to carry forward their armed political and diplomatic struggle until the national aspirations of the Vietnamese people are fully satisfied and until Vietnamese soil is cleared of the American aggressors and their henchmen."

Tass, the official Soviet news agency, said Moscow "stated its readiness to continue the necessary assistance to the Vietnamese people in their struggle for the liberation of South Vietnam, in defense of North Vietnam and for the peaceful reunification of the homeland."

Urbana Passes 4 Years Without Traffic Death

URBANA, Ohio (AP)—Police had few comments Monday as the city of Urbana passed a safety milestone.

The day marks four years without a fatal traffic accident in this community of 12,000 population.

"We never talk about the lack of fatalities," said Police Chief Douglas Storts, "because we're afraid that as soon as we mention it we'll have one."

Storts said the last fatal traffic accident here, on Oct. 20, 1965, occurred in heavy fog. It was a head-on collision and Storts said both drivers were killed.

Dear Abby: Respect For Dead Too Late!

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Our family is divided on something and we'd like your opinion. Our father and mother were married for 32 years. Eight months ago, Mother died after a lingering illness and Dad was so broken up over it we thought we were going to have to bury him, too.

After six months Dad's grief miraculously vanished when on a vacation to recuperate he met a woman slightly younger than Mother. You guessed it. They are planning to be married soon. Some feel that out of respect to Mother, Dad should wait a full year to remarry. Others say it's not necessary. What do YOU say, Abby?

NO NAME OR TOWN, PLS.
DEAR NO: Waiting to show "respect" for the deceased is a pretense. The time to show "respect" is while that person is living.

If you father made your mother happy, and gave her a good life, that is all the "respect" any woman wants. If he wasn't a good husband, waiting a year to remarry (or 20 years!) will not show "respect" to a deceased wife. It's too late. She is gone!

DEAR ABBY: Our teenage daughter's boyfriend recently went into the service. He wrote and asked her to send him a picture of her in a BIKINI, and one in a SHEER SHORTY NIGHTY. He said he wants to put it on display board!

Our daughter doesn't have any pictures of herself that fit that description yet, but she wrote and told him she would have some taken right away and send them to him.

We disapprove, for frankly we think Christians should not be seen in lustful attire as he has requested. But it seems that she desires to fulfill his every wish rather than abide by our teaching.

Don't you think if this boy really respected her he would not have asked for such pictures? Also, don't you think that if she had proper respect for herself and her parents she would try to forget this boy?

HEARTBROKEN PARENTS
DEAR PARENTS: Since the boy did ask, and your daughter responded in the affirmative, I would say the matter is out of your hands. But you are correct in stating the boy lacks respect for his "girl" and she lacks respect for herself.

DEAR ABBY: I notice that some of your readers object to people referring to "police officers" as "cops."

Why? There is nothing derogatory about it. I am told by a British friend that "COP" is short for "CONSTABLE ON PATROL."

In San Francisco where I up we had a beloved Irish cop who settled our baseball disputes and was our friend and Father Confessor. We all called him a "cop" and meant no disrespect. Of course this was a long time ago, as I am a veteran of World War I and II. Best regards

CHIET IN ATASCADERO
FATHER OF TWIN BOYS: Talk with the boys. Neither accuse nor condemn. If your suspicions are correct, arrange for professional counseling. This could be a "stage" through which they will soon pass, but take no chances.

Mrs. William Cox, president, conducted the recent business session of Monday Club, held in the meeting room of the Pickaway County Historical Society.

Mrs. Ray Davis presented the program, "Expectations, Initiative, Adaptability, the third in a series on Thailand, which dealt with the politics of the nation.

"Thailand is almost dead center among S.E. Asia and it backs up against Communist China, giving it a spot which is at the same time strategic and dangerous.

Thailand is favored over the other S.E. Asian countries in that it is wealthy in comparison with them and it is not overcrowded. There are only 14 persons per square mile in Thailand. Between 85 and 90 per cent of the Thais are farmers, the majority owning their own farms, which average 15 acres in size, the largest average in all Asia. Thailand could absorb and support another 50 or 75 million in population, a fact which Red China fully realizes and envies.

"Unlike all of the other countries in the area, and indeed practically all of Asia except China and Japan, Thailand has never been a colony of any European power. This very important circumstance has the corollary point that 'it is the only country in the area not now laboriously involved in acquiring the basic rudiments of self-government, Thailand's politicians having long since become adept practitioners of the art.'"

"Thailand has always been wholly and enthusiastically committed to the free world in the twentieth century's struggle against Communist aggression."

"It is an amazing fact that something in the Thai's make-up has made them past masters of patience, compromise and easiness, with the result that never has the government been overthrown by bloody revolutions. Unlike countries in South America for instance, the Thais have had a genius for changing their governments by bloodless coups. When a ruler or Prime Minister found that he was no longer in control of the situation, he resigned and withdrew.

For nearly all of their years of existence, the Thais have walked a tight-rope where the slightest stumble meant their being taken over by a foreign power. They have a very deep feeling for freedom. Thai means free and their name for their country is Muang Thai (land of the free).

Today, while open war blazes between North and South Vietnam, Thailand lives in comparative peace. Since the second World War, she has openly and firmly aligned herself with the democratic nations of the world. She was one of the first to join the United Nations. Prince Wan, chief of the Thai delegation to the United Nations, was chosen to serve as president of the General Assembly of the U.N. when it convened in 1956.

Mrs. Davis, spaking of the expectations of the Thai people, quoted from John Hughes, staff correspondent for the Christian Science Monitor, as recently as July of this year, wrote, "If there is to be another Vietnam, Thailand is the likeliest setting. Threatened by Communist insurgency within and Communist pressures from without, Thailand has been placed publicly high on Peking's list of countries due for 'wars of liberation.' Small wonder then that as the United States of America wrestles to draw the Vietnam war to a close, the Thais are among the edgiest and most apprehensive of Asian peoples."

Mrs. Davis concluded her paper with this thought, "The Thais will do well to heed the words of King Mongkut in a letter to his ambassador to France in 1864. 'The only weapon that will be of real use to us are our mouths and our hearts, constituted so as to be full of sense and wisdom for the better protection of ourselves'."

Pollution Law Hits City Hard

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Mayor James H. J. Tate signed a tough new air pollution code Monday and the city's biggest industrial polluters pledged full cooperation in cleaning up dirty air. But ironically the biggest noncomplier with the new code will be the city itself.

"Even if City Council gave me $50 million I just couldn't make the six city incinerators comply with the new law," said Streets Commissioner David M. Smallwood.

McCall Workers Approve Contract

Queen To Forego Yule Message Via Airwaves

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II has decided to forego her usual Christmas broadcast this year and instead issue a written message to Britain and the Commonwealth nations on Christmas Eve.

The tradition of a royal Christmas broadcast was started by the Queen's grandfather, King George V, in 1931.

A Buckingham Palace spokesman said the Queen had decided on the change because of wide publicity received by the royal family in other activities already this year.

Woodpecker Bothersome

SEATTLE (AP) — Diana Neilson says a woodpecker has been following her for about five years.

"It's bashful and is hard to get a good, long look at," the 33-year-old mother of four said. "It has a crazy habit that started nearly four or five years ago when we lived in Kent," a Seattle suburb.

"It bored holes in our house there," Mrs. Neilson said, "but that wasn't the worst of it. It used to hang upside down outside our dining room and look at me through the sliding doors."

When the family moved about three years ago, the bird was not far behind.

Mrs. Neilson said authorities have refused her permission to kill the bird because it is a protected species.

Solons Mum On Nixon Defense Of Haynsworth

WASHINGTON (AP) — If President Nixon swayed any undecided senators with his strongly worded defense of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr., they are keeping it to themselves.

The more than 20 Senators who hold the key to confirmation of Haynsworth's nomination to the Supreme Court didn't show any signs that Nixon's statement Monday would start a stampede to back the administration.

Such senior Republicans as George D. Aiken of Vermont and John J. Williams of Delaware still are listed as undecided with an expected vote on confirmed about two weeks off.

Nixon said at a surprise news conference Monday Haynsworth has been subjected to "vicious character assassination." The President said he would not withdraw his nomination even if Haynsworth requested him to do so.

Aiken said later he still hasn't decided how he will vote on Haynsworth's confirmation.

"I doubt if the President made any votes by his statement," Aiken commented.

But Sen. Roman L. Hruska of Nebraska, ranking Republican member of the Senate Judiciary Committee, said he is more confident than ever the Senate will confirm Haynsworth, now chief justice of the 4th U.S. Court of Appeals.

concern has not been that the Judge is dishonest, but that he has not conducted himself in such a manner as to avoid even the appearance of impropriety."

Rail Safety Legislation Is Proposed

Volpe Sends Recommendations To Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Spurred by the "new and catastrophic potential for death and destruction" in train wrecks, the Nixon administration has proposed the first comprehensive federal railroad safety legislation.

Sending the recommendations to Congress, Transportation Secretary John Volpe last week cited "a steadily rising trend" in rail accidents, many involving shipments of hazardous poisons and explosives.

"Existing rail safety statutes are inadequate to enable the government to respond to the problem," Volpe said, noting that—in an abrupt about-face since last spring—the railroads themselves now seem to agree.

Unlike airlines and trucks, railroads thus far have escaped any sort of comprehensive minimum safety standards set by the government, despite attempts in the past to pass such legislation.

The proposal itself does not outline specific safety measures, rather it would permit the secretary of transportation to draw up regulations setting minimum standards for, among other items, tracks, rolling stock and loading procedures.

The administration bill, written from the report of a task force composed of railroad management, labor and government representatives, is the third such safety measures to be introduced this year.

Sens. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., and Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., have introduced their own bills—both of which remain in committee.

Since 1964, derailments of trains carrying hazardous materials have forced the wartime evacuation of more than 40 American communities.

Train accidents have increased from 4,149 in 1961 to 7,294 in 1967, up 75.8 per cent. Train accidents exceeded 8,000 in 1968.

Concert Set At TVHS Auditorium

First English Lutheran Church of Ashville is sponsoring the Earthrise Singers concert at Teays Valley High School Auditorium 8 p.m. Friday.

This group of nine young people from Concordia College at Moorhead, Minn., has banded together under the auspices of the Department of Evangelism of the American Lutheran Church, to bring the Christian gospel to the entire United States.

For over a year these talented young people will be presenting concerts in churches and high schools. Besides their vocal presentations they are well instrumented. So the concert will be quite varied.

Their name is taken from the recent Apollo 8 flight, when the astronauts were orbiting the moon they saw the earth rise.

The public is invited to attend this event.

SDS Silent On 'Kill-Cop'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Members of Students for a Democratic Society here declined to comment today on Congressional testimony in Washington Monday that they urged Columbus high school students to kill police and burn down a major department store.

Two Columbus high school boys, Roy Sims, 15, and James R. Yantis, 17, testified before the House Committee on Internal Security.

Both said they and about 18 others were urged by SDS members to burn down Lazarus, a Columbus department store, and were shown rifles the SDSers said they would provide the boys for "killing pigs (police)."

But the two said none of the high school students approached agreed, and a brawl between the students and SDS members ended meetings between the two groups after an SDS member insulted Sims' grandfather.

The general theme at four meetings with the SDS group, including one at an SDS commune, was that the poor, whites and blacks, "should all get together and cause a big revolution," according to the students.

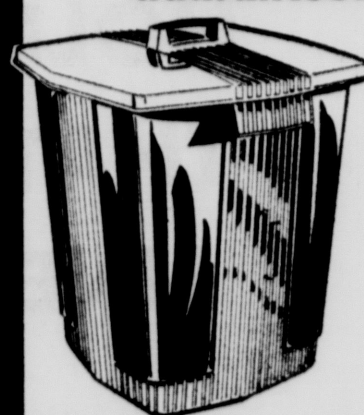

The SDS also urged the students to rob people in wealthier Columbus neighborhoods and to burn down schools and, if they were drafted, draft boards, the boys said.

Roger Hilton, a Columbus juvenile officer, testified that during a riot that broke out in Columbus July 21, literature saying the disturbance should be continued against oppressors was found at the commune the high school students visited.

Beregovoi, Feoktistov Visit U.S. Attend Broadway Play

NEW YORK (AP) — Two Soviet cosmonauts took in a Broadway show and dined in a French restaurant on their first day in the United States. They drank only vodka.

One of them said their warm welcome "revealed humanity at its best."

Maj. Gen. Georgi T. Beregovoi, 48, and Konstantin Feoktistov, 43, a civilian, arrived in New York Monday from Moscow. They immediately declined an invitation to Mayor John V. Lindsay's reception for the New York Mets, the baseball world champions.

"They have just had a 12-hour jet trip and they're pooped," said Col. Frank Borman, the U.S. astronaut who is their host on the two-week tour.

Beregovoi and Feoktistov went to their Plaza Hotel suites to rest, then went to see "Hello, Dolly!" with Pearl Bailey and Cab Calloway.

Miss Bailey brought the Soviet spacemen and Borman on stage after the show, to a standing ovation from the audience.

"I love you," she said, and kissed each on the cheek. "But tell me, how do you manage to fly up in space like that?"

"You have to have time and ability to do everything," Beregovoi told her.

"How well I know, honey. How well I know," Miss Bailey chortled, and the audience roared.

The party then went to Chez Vito for a late supper. The cosmonauts ordered coquille st. Jacques—a scallops-in-cream-sauce dish—steak and vodka.

Beregovoi told newsmen, "I was very much impressed not so much with just the city as with the people and especially the memorable people in the theater whose welcome surpassed cordiality because it revealed humanity at its best."

The spacemen surprised their American hosts by announcing they could not make their scheduled stop at Cape Kennedy, Fla., where America launches its moon missions.

They gave no explanation, but some Americans traveling with the party speculated that Moscow feared if the two visited Cape Kennedy then Washington might request that American astronauts be allowed to visit the Soviet secret take-off center at Baikonur in central Asia.

Beregovoi and Feoktistov fly to Houston today, where they will visit the Manned Spacecraft Center and hold a news conference.

Atlanta Voters To Choose Mayor In Bitter Election

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Voters pick the winner today of a fiery race for mayor livened by last-minute charges of campaign irregularity and anti-Semitism.

The city's 218,000 registered voters had a choice between Sam Massell, a Democrat and present vice mayor, and Rodney Cook, a Republican alderman and state legislator.

Retiring Mayor Ivan Allen Jr., a fellow Democrat, had urged Massell to quit the race on the ground that he "badly used his position" during the campaign. Massell struck back Monday at a news conference, declaring:

"Money and power shall not dictate to the electorate."

Massell said he was being opposed by a five-man big business "power pack," including Allen and Cook, because they could not control him and because he is Jewish.

Allen, who did not seek reelection, urged Massell Sunday to withdraw his candidacy because a police captain assigned to his campaign was called on to accompany Massell's brother on fund-raising visits to nightclubs.

Massell replied that his brother had used "bad judgment" but denied any personal wrongdoing.

Negroes who make up nearly 40 per cent of the eligible voters generally were regarded as the key to the election.

Solons Mum On Nixon Defense Of Haynsworth

WASHINGTON (AP) — If President Nixon swayed any undecided senators with his strongly worded defense of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr., they are keeping it to themselves.

The more than 20 Senators who hold the key to confirmation of Haynsworth's nomination to the Supreme Court didn't show any signs that Nixon's statement Monday would start a stampede to back the administration. Such senior Republicans as George D. Aiken of Vermont and John J. Williams of Delaware still are listed as undecided with an expected vote on confirmed about two weeks off. Nixon said at a surprise news conference Monday Haynsworth has been subjected to "vicious character assassination." The President said he would not withdraw his nomination even if Haynsworth requested him to do so. Aiken said later he still hasn't decided how he will vote on Haynsworth's confirmation. "I doubt if the President made any votes by his statement," Aiken commented. But Sen. Roman L. Hruska of Nebraska, ranking Republican member of the Senate Judiciary Committee, said he is more confident than ever the Senate will confirm Haynsworth, now chief judge of the 4th U.S. Court of Appeals.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., a leader of the opposition, said conflict-of-interest charges he has made have not been refuted by the administration "and make an eloquent case against confirmation of Judge Haynsworth."

The conflict-of-interest issue centers on charges that Haynsworth held stock in companies involved in court cases in which he participated.

Supporters contend the issue is just a smokescreen for the opposition of labor and civil rights leaders, who have brought heavy pressure on senators to vote against confirmation.

Aiken said his impression from talking with colleagues is that most of them wish the nomination would just go away so that they would not have to vote on it.

But Nixon made it clear he will force a showdown on Haynsworth's nomination, saying "I think he will be a great credit to the Supreme Court and I intend to stand behind him until he is confirmed."

Nixon said that after a thorough review of all the records he is convinced that Haynsworth is "an honest man," a man of integrity, "and deserves even more the support of the President and the Senate."

Bayh said in answer to the President's statement: "My concern has not been that the Judge is dishonest, but that he has not conducted himself in such a manner as to avoid even the appearance of impropriety."

Rail Safety Legislation Is Proposed

Volpe Sends Recommendations To Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Spurred by the "new and catastrophic potential for death and destruction" in train wrecks, the Nixon administration has proposed the first comprehensive federal railroad safety legislation.

Sending the recommendations to Congress, Transportation Secretary John Volpe last week cited "a steadily rising trend" in rail accidents, many involving shipments of hazardous poisons and explosives.

"Existing rail safety statutes are inadequate to enable the government to respond to the problem," Volpe said, noting that—in an abrupt about-face since last spring—the railroads themselves now seem to agree.

Unlike airlines and trucks, railroads thus far have escaped any sort of comprehensive minimum safety standards set by the government, despite attempts in the past to pass such legislation.

The proposal itself does not outline specific safety measures, rather it would permit the secretary of transportation to draw up regulations setting minimum standards for, among other items, tracks, rolling stock and loading procedures.

The administration bill, written from the report of a task force composed of railroad management, labor and government representatives, is the third such safety measure to be introduced this year.

Sens. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., and Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., have introduced their own bills—both of which remain in committee.

Since 1964, derailments of trains carrying hazardous materials have forced the wartime evacuation of more than 40 American communities.

Train accidents have increased from 4,149 in 1961 to 7,294 in 1967, up 75.8 per cent. Train accidents exceeded 8,000 in 1968.

Both said they and about 18 others were urged by SDS members to burn down Lazarus, a Columbus department store, and were shown rifles the SDSers said they would provide the boys for "killing pigs (police)."

But the two said none of the high school students approached agreed, and a brawl between the students and SDS members ended meetings between the two groups after an SDS member insulted Sim's grandfather.

The general theme at four meetings with the SDS group, including one at an SDS commune, was that the poor, whites and blacks, "should all get together and cause a big revolution," according to the students.

The SDS also urged the students to rob people in wealthier Columbus neighborhoods and to burn down schools and, if they were drafted, draft boards, the boys said.

Roger Hilton, a Columbus juvenile officer, testified that during a riot that broke out in Columbus July 21, literature saying the disturbance should be continued against oppressors was found at the commune the high school students visited.

Beregovoi, Feoktistov Visit U.S. Attend Broadway Play

NEW YORK (AP) — Two Soviet cosmonauts took in a Broadway show and dined in a French restaurant on their first day in the United States. They drank only vodka.

One of them said their warm welcome "revealed humanity at its best."

Maj. Gen. Georgi T. Beregovoi, 48, and Konstantin Feoktistov, 43, a civilian, arrived in New York Monday from Moscow. They immediately declined an invitation to Mayor John V. Lindsay's reception for the New York Mets, the baseball world champions.

"They have just had a 12-hour jet trip and they're pooped," said Col. Frank Borman, the U.S. astronaut who is their host on the two-week tour.

Beregovoi and Feoktistov went to their Plaza Hotel suites to rest, then went to see "Hello, Dolly!" with Pearl Bailey and Cab Calloway.

Miss Bailey brought the Soviet spacemen and Borman on stage after the show, to a standing ovation from the audience.

"I love you," she said, and kissed each on the cheek. "But tell me, how do you manage to fly up in space like that?"

"You have to have time and ability to do everything," Beregovoi told her.

"How well I know, honey. How well I know," Miss Bailey chortled, and the audience roared.

The party then went to Chez Vito for a late supper. The cosmonauts ordered coquille st. Jacques—a scallops-in-cream sauce dish—steak and vodka.

Beregovoi told newsmen, "I was very much impressed not so much with just the city as with the people and especially the memorable people in the theater whose welcome surprised cordiality because it revealed humanity at its best."

The spacemen surprised their American hosts by announcing they could not make their scheduled stop at Cape Kennedy, Fla., where America launches its moon missions.

They gave no explanation, but some Americans traveling with the party speculated that Moscow feared if the two visited Cape Kennedy then Washington might request that American astronauts be allowed to visit the Soviet secret take-off center at Baikonur in central Asia.

Beregovoi and Feoktistov fly to Houston today, where they will visit the Manned Spacecraft Center and hold a news conference.

Atlanta Voters To Choose Mayor In Bitter Election

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Voters pick the winner today of a fiery race for mayor livened by last-minute charges of campaign irregularity and anti-Semitism.

The city's 218,000 registered voters had a choice between Sam Massell, a Democrat and present vice mayor, and Rodney Cook, a Republican alderman and state legislator.

Retiring Mayor Ivan Allen Jr., a fellow Democrat, had urged Massell to quit the race on the ground that he "badly used his position" during the campaign. Massell struck back Monday at a news conference.

"Money and power shall not dictate to the electorate," Massell said he was being opposed by a five-man big business "power pack," including Allen and Cook, because they could not control him and because he is Jewish.

Allen, who did not seek reelection, urged Massell Sunday to withdraw his candidacy because a police captain assigned to his campaign was called on to accompany Massell's brother on fund-raising visits to nightclubs.

Massell replied that his brother had used "bad judgment" but denied any personal wrongdoing.

Negroes who make up nearly 40 per cent of the eligible voters generally were regarded as the key to the election.

In balloting two weeks ago, Massell led Cook by some 4,205 votes but did not receive a majority.

Dr. Horace E. Tate, the city's first black candidate for mayor since Reconstruction, who finished third in the eight-man field two weeks ago, endorsed Cook in the runoff.

Massell was supported by Coretta Scott King, widow of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., and several other Negro leaders.

A spokesman for Cook said the candidate's own advertising manager was Jewish and "there's no prejudice of any sort" in the campaign.

Report Nixon Mum On O'Grady Request

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Democratic Party Chairman Eugene P. O'Grady said Monday he has received no reply from President Nixon to his request that charges against Gov. James A. Rhodes by Life magazine be investigated by the Justice Department.

O'Grady said he wrote Nixon on Oct. 4 asking for a full investigation into the charges that Rhodes paid income taxes and penalties of about $100,000 over a 10-year period and that he diverted campaign funds to private use.

Nixon Rips Haynsworth Opponents

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon said Monday Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. has been subjected to vicious character assassination, and even if the judge asked him to withdraw his nomination to the Supreme Court he would not do so.

Nixon took this stand at a one-topic news conference called hurriedly in his office.

He said he had gone over the complete record of the case of the man he tapped for the Supreme Court and all of the criticism and charges that had been raised.

He said he is standing by his judgment that Haynsworth should have the position.

And he said he is confident that if senators study all the documents and charges involved, enough of them will come to the same conclusion he has and will vote for confirmation.

Nixon said of Haynsworth: "I find Judge Haynsworth an honest man, a lawyer's lawyer and a judge's judge. I think he will be a great credit to the Supreme Court and I intend to stand behind him until he is confirmed."

The duck and coot season runs through Nov. 29. The goose season runs through Dec. 18 and from Dec. 24 through Jan. 3, 1970. Hunting hours begin a half hour before dawn and end at sunset every day.

Draft Lottery Workings Eyed

Probabilities Are Figured

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's draft lottery system—if it passes Congress—is sure to bring out a talent among the country's 18-year-olds for figuring mathematical probabilities.

Critics say the plan will leave most young men guessing about just when they might be called the following year and their chances for escaping the draft entirely.

But armed with a few basic figures those guesses can get pretty close. And some men won't have to guess at all.

The plan for drafting 19-year-olds first on a lottery basis is likely to pass the House late this week. It is still an open question in the Senate.

The 365 birthdates for the following year would be drawn out of a fish bowl at a public lottery in late September or early October each year.

There's little guesswork for able-bodied men whose 19th birthdays fall on the first dates drawn: they'll be among the first men called early the next year.

And men with birthdays on the last 150 or more dates drawn will likely escape the draft entirely.

Everybody else will have to take out his scratchpad and pencil and start figuring the odds on the basis of the number of men in the draft pool and the rate at which they're being called up each month.

The nation's population may reach 360 million by the year 2000 and unless home construction increases by 50 per cent over current levels, many of them will not be housed.

Nixon Rips Haynsworth Opponents

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon said Monday Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. has been subjected to vicious character assassination, and even if the judge asked him to withdraw his nomination to the Supreme Court he would not do so.

Nixon took this stand at a one-topic news conference called hurriedly in his office.

He said he had gone over the complete record of the case of the man he tapped for the Supreme Court and all of the criticism and charges that had been raised.

He said he is standing by his judgment that Haynsworth should have the position.

And he said he is confident that if senators study all the documents and charges involved, enough of them will come to the same conclusion he has and will vote for confirmation.

Nixon said of Haynsworth: "I find Judge Haynsworth an honest man, a lawyer's lawyer and a judge's judge. I think he will be a great credit to the Supreme Court and I intend to stand behind him until he is confirmed."

Draft Lottery Workings Eyed

Probabilities Are Figured

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's draft lottery system—if it passes Congress—is sure to bring out a talent among the country's 18-year-olds for figuring mathematical probabilities.

Critics say the plan will leave most young men guessing about just when they might be called the following year and their chances for escaping the draft entirely.

But armed with a few basic figures those guesses can get pretty close. And some men won't have to guess at all.

The plan for drafting 19-year-olds first on a lottery basis is likely to pass the House late this week. It is still an open question in the Senate.

The 365 birthdates for the following year would be drawn out of a fish bowl at a public lottery in late September or early October each year.

There's little guesswork for able-bodied men whose 19th birthdays fall on the first dates drawn; they'll be among the first men called early the next year.

And men with birthdays on the last 150 or more dates drawn will likely escape the draft entirely.

Everybody else will have to take out his scratchpad and pencil and start figuring the odds on the basis of the number of men in the draft pool and the rate at which they're being called up each month.

The nation's population may reach 360 million by the year 2000 and unless home construction increases by 50 per cent over current levels, many of them will not be housed.

Canton McKinley Takes Over Lead In Prep Grid Poll

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ground - favoring Canton McKinley jumped into the top spot today in the weekly Associated Press Ohio high school football poll and dropped defending champion Upper Arlington to second as the race for the big school title developed into a three-way struggle. Third place Elyria, 7-0-0 like the top two, trails McKinley by only 25 points and Upper Arlington by 11 in Class AA balloting among sports writers and sports casters who vote in the poll.

Canton, which trailed Upper Arlington's Golden Bears by 27 points last week, collected 200 points to 186 for the No. 2 team and 175 for Elyria. Meanwhile, the Class A powers remained in the same four places. Newark Catholic, an impressive 56-6 winner over ninth-ranked New Albany last week, improved its point lead from 11 to 24 over Norwalk St. Paul 181-157.

McDonald and Cory Rawson held onto the third and fourth spots while Mechanicsburg changed places with Granville for No. 5.

Only one new school moved into either top 10. Newark, co-leading the Central Ohio League with Upper Arlington, claimed 10th in Class AA. Marion Pleasant achieved the 10th spot in the small school voting.

With runners like Rocco Rich, Rich Brown and Eddie Floyd, McKinley has rolled up 1,852 rushing yards to only 489, passing. The Bulldogs totaled 489 ground yards in a 68-0 rout of Toledo DeWitt last week.

Meantime, Upper Arlington struggled to a 21-12 home victory over Chillicothe for its 27th straight victory. Canton owns a 14-game winning streak.

Both face big games this week. McKinley ventures to Steubenville, risking its All-American Conference lead against the Big Red. Upper Arlington faces visiting Newark with the winner an odds-on choice to win the Central Ohio League.

Elyria gained voting strength with a 13-12 verdict over Sandusky, which fell only one spot to sixth place. Niles McKinley used a 23-14 triumph over Warren Western Reserve to jump from seventh to fourth.

Newark Catholic easily preserved Ohio's longest winning streak with its 20th straight. New Albany, however, did end the Green Wave's scoreless period streak at 33.

Ted Williams Is Named AL Manager Of The Year

By MIKE BRYSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—The ragamuffin cast was virtually the same, but Washington's Senators produced an astonishing about-face last season thanks to the personal magnetism and knowledge of the game that made Ted Williams baseball's last 400 hitter. The freshman manager, who readily admitted he was uneasy about bossing a club despite a million dollar contract, took a collection of ball players that finished dead last the season before and guided them to their first winning season in 17 years. And, for that bit of masterminding, Williams has been named The Associated Press' American League manager of the year in a nationwide poll of sports writers and broadcasters. Williams attracted 113 votes in the balloting—11 more than another freshman manager, Billy Martin, who was dismissed after leading the Minnesota Twins to the Western Division championship. Earl Weaver, who guided the Baltimore Orioles to a runaway triumph in the Eastern Division, was third with 70 votes. Lefty Phillips, a mid-season replacement who guided California to third place, received one vote. Williams is in Zambia, Africa, filming a hunting show for television and was not available for comment. However, late in the season he scoffed at the idea when it was suggested that he might be named the AL's manager of the year. The award should go to Weaver, Williams said, because he won the pennant and "that's what you're supposed to do." "I can tell you one thing," he added, "I'm not going to any of those banquets if I get it." Williams had never managed anywhere until Bob Short, owner of the Senators, lured him away from a leisure life of hunting and fishing with a salary and stock in the Senators that totaled more than a million dollars. Williams was presented at the start of the season with a group of players that had won only 65 of 161 games in 1968. But he "bubbled with enthusiasm and it's contagious," said Ed Brinkman, summing up the respect that Williams commanded from his players. Under the master teacher, Frank Howard had his greatest year ever, and players such as Mike Epstein, Brinkman and Hank Allen turned from .220 hitters into .280 hitters. Even the pitching staff improved 100 per cent. The end result was an 86-76 campaign and a fourth place finish—the first time since 1952 that the Senators had finished better than .500 and the first time since 1946 that they had finished as high as fourth.

Bengals Set For Big Feud With Broncos

CINCINNATI (AP) — Bruised and battered, the Cincinnati Bengals indicated Monday that Sunday's rough 30-23 loss to the Denver Broncos has all the earmarks of a feud that will culminate in the last game of the season at Denver Dec. 14 in the American Football League. Bengal's quarterback Sam Wyche was battered all afternoon by the tough Bronco defensive line and singled out Rich Jackson, defensive end. "Jackson was guilty of unnecessary roughness two or three times," Wyche complained. Cincinnati equipment manager Tom Gray took exception to a complaint by Larry Elliott, his Denver counterpart, who charged the Bengals shaved their cleats before the game cutting up the Bronco players. "We wear the same shoes and the same cleats Denver wears," Gray shot back. "If anyone wants to look they're welcome. There's not a word of truth in what they said."

"If this is what it takes to stir their team up," said Bengals Coach Paul Brown, "that of course is their own business. It's all news to me." The Bengals battered list included flanker Speedy Thomas with a wrenched back, guard Dave Middelendorf with bruised ribs and guard Pat Matson with a sprained knee and running back Paul Robinson with a torn right index finger.

Dick Brooks Named Top NASCAR Rookie
DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Dick Brooks, a California native who moved to the stock car hotbed of South Carolina, today was named rookie of the year by NASCAR. The 27-year-old Spartanburg, S.C., driver edged Buddy Young of Fairfax, Va., for the honor, according to chief steward John Bruner Sr. of the National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing. Brooks began racing on the West Coast in 1963, but shifted to Spartanburg in time for the 1969 season. He is ranked No. 26 in Grand National point standings after 24 races and has won $22,177.

Williams was presented at the start of the season with a group of players that had won only 65 of 161 games in 1968. But he "bubbled with enthusiasm and it's contagious," said Ed Brinkman, summing up the respect that Williams commanded from his players. Hang Out College Football Wash

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Hanging out the college football wash: Is top-ranked Ohio State unbeatable? No, says Michigan State's Duffy Daugherty, one of four to try—and fail—this season.

"But," he adds, "they're going to be a prohibitive favorite in every game. Woody Hayes is in an enviable position. If any one gets fat-headed as a result of their success last year and this he can sit them down with no appreciable drop in talent."

"Ohio State is more mature and more experienced than a year ago. Not only is just about everybody back from last year, but they've got a lot of fine sophomores, whose primary purpose, I'm sure, is to keep last year's sophomores on their toes."

"They've got greater depth and experience than last year and they don't seem to have lost any incentive."

Best team ever, Duffy? "I wouldn't say that. They're as versatile as any team I've ever seen on offense, but I don't think they're as good defensively as our Michigan State teams of 1965 and 1966 or the Notre Dame team of 1966." In those days, Michigan State featured Bubba Smith, George Webster and Jess Phillips on defense while Notre Dame spotlighted Alan Page, Kevin Hardy and Jim Lynch.

This week's grist for the Ohio State mill is Illinois, winless in five games but the last team to beat the Buckeyes. That occurred 18 games ago in 1967 and the score was 17-13. Last week, the Illini barely fell 31-24.

"We won't have a problem of overconfidence," says Hayes. "We've had too many squeakers with Illinois lately."

Back to Daugherty, it's not often someone puts one over on him, but tiny Hillsdale College did just that—and got a record 62-yard field goal out of sophomore Chester Marcol as a result.

When Marcol graduated from Imlay City, Mich., High School, his English wasn't the greatest, since his family had come over from Poland only a few years earlier.

"We couldn't get him in here because he couldn't pass the English entrance exam and they wouldn't let me give him the test myself," quipped Daugherty.

So Marcol's high school coach, who just happened to be a Hillsdale grad, took him to his alma mater, where Coach Frank "Muddy" Waters started thinking.

"Since he wasn't an American citizen at the time, we let him take English as a foreign language and enrolled him as a foreign student," laughed Waters. "I'm sure Duffy could have done the same thing if he'd thought of it."

Marcol booted his 62-yarder—it cleared the crossbar with room to spare—in Saturday's 20-13 victory over Fairmont, W.Va., State.

Rabies Is As Fatal Today As In Ancient Times

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first in a series of five articles about rabies. It is designed to give our readers a broader knowledge of this disease which has plagued Ohio for so long. The articles have been prepared by the Division of Communicable Diseases of the Ohio Department of Health.

Is rabies a "modern" disease? Is it fatal? How much of a problem is it in Ohio... in this county?

Rabies, also called hydrophobia, is not a new disease. But it is just as fatal today as it was in ancient times.

The earliest evidence of rabies is in wall murals of ancient civilizations. These show a mad dog running through the streets of a city terrorizing the inhabitants.

The first requirement for the control and eventual eradication of any disease is the recognition of the disease for what it is and equally important, what it is not. Perhaps the first written reference to rabies can be found in the "Iliad" of Homer (B.C. ninth century) in which the poet mentions the dog star (Sirius) as having a malignant influence upon mankind and in which Hector is compared to an enraged dog. Thus in the ancient world, the weeks of late summer were known as "dog days" when Sirius, the Great Dog Star constellation and brightest star in the heavens, rose in the morning and supposedly added its heat to that of the sun. Dogs were thought at this time of year to be subject to seizures, giving rise to the ancient belief that rabies was caused by extraterrestrial forces. To a limited extent these superstitions carry over into today's world since many people wrongly believe that rabies is still more prevalent during late summer or "dog days."

As early as 500 B.C., Democritus, a Greek, described rabies in dogs and domestic animals as well as Aristotle in 322 B.C.

Celsus in 100 A.D. recognized that man developed the disease after being exposed to the bite of a rabid animal. As treatment he advised cauterization of the bite wound. This treatment was still being used in many parts of the world only a few decades ago.

Little, other than mistruths and confusion, was added to our knowledge of rabies until the 19th century. By 1880, the work of Pasteur gave the medical world its first insight into the real nature of the virus causing the disease. Pasteur developed a crude vaccine and made numerous other contributions that stimulated widespread interest in rabies research. Yet it was in the 1940's before any additional significant knowledge was discovered and put to use. Progress since then has been spectacular, especially in the development of new and effective vaccines for man and animals.

There is no evidence to suggest that rabies existed in either North or South America prior to colonization. Perhaps it was carried into the new world by settlers who brought in infected pets. The historical archives of Virginia mentions rabies in several instances and it was widespread in dogs in New England by 1785. Swine, which had run of the streets, were common urban victims while foxes were commonly involved in rural areas. As civilization moved west, rabies did also and Fleming in 1810 states that "in Ohio it appears to have assumed an epizootic character, affecting dogs, wolves and foxes." By 1860, rabies was common in the Mississippi Valley and had reached the west coast by the turn of the century. Every state in the Union has been host to the disease at one time or another.

Today we know that rabies is carried by a wide variety of wild animals and that at least one of them, the bat, can carry rabies, virus without dying. While some bats die of rabies, others can show symptoms and then recover. Research has shown also that rabies can be transmitted through the air from infected bats to other animals and man in the southwestern United States and Mexico. Yet, in spite of the rapid progress in rabies research there are still many unanswered questions that hopefully will be answered in the near future.

Medicare Part B Insurance Is Explained By SS Office

Many Medicare beneficiaries and their families have asked numerous questions about the annual $50 deductible for Medicare Part B (Medical Insurance), according to Robert M. Martin, District Social Security Manager at Chillicothe.

The $50 deductible is an annual deductible for a calendar year. Thus, the first $50 of medical bills in any year must be sent to the claims paying office to be recorded before a beneficiary is eligible to receive the 80 per cent of reasonable charges for additional medical expenses.

For the best claim service, Martin urges beneficiaries to hold their bills until they equal $50 before sending them (with a completed Form 1490) to their claim paying office. Ohio beneficiaries who are Social Security retirees should send their bills to: Nationwide Insurance, P. O. Box 57, Columbus, Ohio 43216. Railroad retirees should send their claims to the nearest Travelers Insurance office.

After the $50 deductible is satisfied, beneficiaries should forward each medical bill as it is received. Complete a Form 1490 and enclose with each mailing for better identification. Waiting until the end of each year to forward bills causes a great backlog at the claims paying office which results in payment delays.

The carry-over rule on $50 deductible was inaugurated to help those who might otherwise need to meet the deductible twice in a short period. It works this way: If a beneficiary's medical expenses haven't reached $50 by the last quarter of a calendar year, the covered medical expenses incurred in that quarter are usable to satisfy that year's $50 deductible as well as applying toward satisfying the $50 deductible for the following year. The claims paying office determines this from the dates of medical service on the bills, or on the Medicare Form 1490.

Therefore, it becomes important to beneficiaries to send in all of their bills promptly to avoid losing this advantage. Martin stressed, also, if a person did not accumulate $50 of bills in a single year he should include the bills for the last quarter of that year when sending in bills for the next year.

Any beneficiaries who have questions about the $50 deductible, or completion of their claim form, may contact the Social Security office at 606 Central Center, Chillicothe. The office hours are 8:45 a.m. to 4:45 p.m., Monday through Friday. The telephone number is 775-4950.

Westfall Seeks $1,400,000 Bond Issue

A $1,400,000 bond issue for the construction of buildings for the elementary students of Westfall School District will be voted upon at the election of Nov. 4.

Plans call for the construction of the facilities on the site of the high school building. Bonding capacity of the district will not provide enough money to erect buildings for all of the elementary children now.

The money from the bond issue would provide facilities for grades one through six with grades seven and eight attending school at either Jackson or Monroe building. Eventually all elementary students would attend school at the central site of the high school building.

The bond issue money would provide 35 classrooms. It is planned to erect one building of 24 classrooms for grades 1-4 and another nearby building with 11 classrooms for grades five and six.

Facilities such as library, multipurpose rooms and cafeteria would be shared. As determined by the county auditor, an average of 3.4 mills would be needed to pay off the bond issue which would mature in 22 years.

New standards for elementary schools cannot be met by the present facilities of the elementary schools of the district. With all students attending school at a central location, busses would pick up both grade and high school students on the same trip, making the elementary school day a little longer and the high school day a little shorter than at present.

Rabies Is As Fatal Today As In Ancient Times

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first in a series of five articles about rabies. It is designed to give our readers a broader knowledge of this disease which has plagued Ohio for so long. The articles have been prepared by the Division of Communicable Diseases of the Ohio Department of Health.

Is rabies a "modern" disease? Is it fatal? How much of a problem is it in Ohio ... in this county?

Rabies, also called hydrophobia, is not a new disease. But it is just as fatal today as it was in ancient times. The earliest evidence of rabies is in wall murals of ancient civilizations. These show a mad dog running through the streets of a city terrorizing the inhabitants.

The first requirement for the control and eventual eradication of any disease is the recognition of the disease for what it is and equally important, what it is not. Perhaps the first written reference to rabies can be found in the "Iliad" of Homer (B.C. ninth century) in which the poet mentions the dog star (Sirius) as having a malignant influence upon mankind and in which Hector is compared to an enraged dog. Thus in the ancient world, the weeks of late summer were known as "dog days" when Sirius, the Great Dog Star constellation and brightest star in the heavens, rose in the morning and supposedly added its heat to that of the sun. Dogs were thought at this time of year to be subject to seizures, giving rise to the ancient belief that rabies was caused by extraterrestrial forces. To a limited extent these superstitions carry over into today's world since many people wrongly believe that rabies is still more prevalent during late summer or "dog days."

As early as 500 B.C., Democritus, a Greek, described rabies in dogs and domestic animals as well as Aristotle in 322 B.C.

Celsus in 100 A.D. recognized that man developed the disease after being exposed to the bite of a rabid animal. As treatment he advised cauterization of the bite wound. This treatment was still being used in many parts of the world only a few decades ago.

Little, other than mistrusts and confusion, was added to our knowledge of rabies until the 19th century. By 1880, the work of Pasteur gave the medical world its first insight into the real nature of the virus causing the disease. Pasteur developed a crude vaccine and made numerous other contributions that stimulated widespread interest in rabies research. Yet it was in the 1940's before any additional significant knowledge was discovered and put to use. Progress since then has been spectacular, especially in the development of new and effective vaccines for man and animals.

There is no evidence to suggest that rabies existed in either North or South America prior to colonization. Perhaps it was carried into the new world by settlers who brought in infected pets. The historical archives of Virginia mentions rabies in several instances and it was widespread in dogs in New England by 1785. Swine, which had run of the streets, were common urban victims while foxes were commonly involved in rural areas. As civilization moved west, rabies did also and Fleming in 1810 states that "in Ohio it appears to have assumed an epizootic character, affecting dogs, wolves and foxes." By 1860, rabies was common in the Mississippi Valley and had reached the west coast by the turn of the century. Every state in the Union has been host to the disease at one time or another.

Today we know that rabies is carried by a wide variety of wild animals and that at least one of them, the bat, can carry rabies virus without dying. While some bats die of rabies, others can show symptoms and then recover. Research has shown also that rabies can be transmitted through the air from infected bats to other animals and man in the southwestern United States and Mexico. Yet, in spite of the rapid progress in rabies research there are still many unanswered questions that hopefully will be answered in the near future.

Medicare Part B Insurance Is Explained By SS Office

Many Medicare beneficiaries and their families have asked numerous questions about the annual $50 deductible for Medicare Part B (Medical Insurance), according to Robert M. Martin, District Social Security Manager at Chillicothe.

The $50 deductible is an annual deductible for a calendar year. Thus, the first $50 of medical bills in any year must be sent to the claims paying office to be recorded before a beneficiary is eligible to receive the 80 per cent of reasonable charges for additional medical expenses.

For the best claim service, Martin urges beneficiaries to hold their bills until they equal $50 before sending them (with a completed Form 1490) to their claim paying office. Ohio beneficiaries who are Social Security retirees should send their bills to: Nationwide Insurance, P. O. Box 57, Columbus, Ohio 43216. Railroad retirees should send their claims to the nearest Travelers Insurance office.

After the $50 deductible is satisfied, beneficiaries should forward each medical bill as it is received. Complete a Form 1490 and enclose with each mailing for better identification. Waiting until the end of each year to forward bills causes a great backlog at the claims paying office which results in payment delays.

The carry-over rule on $50 deductible was inaugurated to help those who might otherwise need to meet the deductible twice in a short period. It works this way: If a beneficiary's medical expenses haven't reached $50 by the last quarter of a calendar year, the covered medical expenses incurred in that quarter are usable to satisfy that year's $50 deductible as well as applying toward satisfying the $50 deductible for the following year. The claims paying office determines this from the dates of medical service on the bills, or on the Medicare Form 1490.

Therefore, it becomes important to beneficiaries to send in all of their bills promptly to avoid losing this advantage. Martin stressed, also, if a person did not accumulate $50 of bills in a single year he should include the bills for the last quarter of that year when sending in bills for the next year.

Any beneficiaries who have questions about the $50 deductible, or completion of their claim form, may contact the Social Security office at 606 Central Center, Chillicothe. The office hours are 8:45 a.m. to 4:45 p.m., Monday through Friday. The telephone number is 775-4950.
